

Why am I interested at completing my internship at CM.com.

CM.com first piqued my interest through a mutual connection at school where both teachers and other students recommended me the company as a wonderful place to learn during your internship but also as a great place to work.

Furthermore, what made me more invested was the fact that most of your internship cases seem to all revolve around real world applications with them either expanding on your current products or starting a project from the ground up.

Lastly are the solutions that CM.com provide. Due to the usage of the newest technologies in a wide area of different domains it gives me the confidence that this company will be able to create a working environment in which I will be able to learn many new things.
